Dear Parent/Carer

As part of your child's preparation for the GCSE exams, your child is sitting a one hour timed test every Monday. The class is told the question in advance and asked to revise ahead of the test – often with a model answer on which to base revision. This is essential preparation, enabling students to phase their revision and to build up competence in writing under time constrained test conditions.

Unfortunately, your child does not appear to be preparing for these tests at the moment. I would be grateful if you could encourage revision on a Sunday afternoon or evening to ensure that the benefit of these exercises is maximised.

With thanks for your support.

Yours sincerely

Mr Kingston
English Subject Leader
